

Get posture perfect

Why good posture is important

Good posture means you are more confident and more independent. It also means less fear of falls and less likelihood of falling. The best way to achieve good posture is to improve your balance and your strength. You can do this by activities like dancing or yoga. You can also do the activities on our three Go for Life factsheets.

Poor posture

Poor posture usually means your head is forward, your shoulders are rounded and your upper back is curved.

Good posture

Good posture means that your ears are over your shoulders, over your hips, over your knees, over your heels.

The outcome of poor posture is that you tilt forward. To stay upright, you compensate by curving your back and bending your knees. This also makes your stomach and bottom stick out.

1. Posture Perfect (standing)

Start with your feet slightly apart, feet facing forward and your knees soft (slightly bent). Imagine a string is tied to the top of your head. Someone is gently drawing it upwards. When your body feels tall, lift your shoulders. Draw them backward and lower them into a relaxed position so that your head is over your shoulders and your shoulders are over your hips.
